Sustainability Statement

Discovery will actively engage children, families, educators, and the community in developing a sustainable environment which fosters and inspires best practice and emphasises the importance of preparing and empowering individuals to become responsible for contributing to a sustainable future.

Discovery understands that there are three key elements of sustainable development: social, environmental, and economic. Discovery is socially and environmentally responsible and committed to operating a sustainable and ethical organisation that embraces diversity and innovation.

We support universal human rights, protect the environment, and benefit the communities in which we work.

Emphasis is placed on empowering all members of our community to become responsible for contributing to a sustainable future and in supporting children to become environmentally and socially responsible.

We educate and engage children in developing an awareness of human activity on environments and the interdependence between land, people, plants, and animals. We model respect and appreciation for the natural environment and support children in developing an appreciation and care of the natural and constructed world.
